

Million Hearts SMBP Forum

Welcome to the Million Hearts SMBP Forum on Confluence!

Million Hearts self-measured blood pressure monitoring (SMBP) is a collaborative community of practice to advance the use of SMBP nationally as a proven strategy to improve hypertension control and prevent heart attacks and strokes.

To navigate this community, use the search bar above for keywords or specific items you're seeking or simply browse the modules below. Some keywords to get you started are videos, toolkits, guidelines, articles, and webinars. All resources include the first author or organization and year, if applicable. The discussion board can be used to engage colleagues and experts, while What's New gives updates on new resources added to the community and dates for upcoming SMBP related webinars and events.

Use the "Community Sharing" folder to add your SMBP related tools and resources to the site. To access this folder, click on Tools & Resources and then select Community Sharing.
